Having your first baby? Don't know what to get? Don't know what you need? We were in the same boat not long ago.

We wasted thousands of dollars on baby products that we couldn't use, didn't work well, or only lasted for a month or two before our baby outgrew them. We spent hours and hours sorting through the stuff we couldn't use anymore just to donate it to charity or sell it for a fraction of the cost we paid. Then we spent even more hours figuring out what we actually need for our baby and had to spend even MORE money to get new baby products.

I want you to avoid this money and time suck when preparing for your first little one. My book is a guide to avoiding the costly mistakes we made, and a road map for how you can save money, time, and stress when getting ready for your first baby.

If you're a first time parent, you don't really know what you're actually going to need once your baby is here. You have little to no experience shopping for babies and nobody is really there to help you out. This book will help you in your baby shopping endeavors.

Save money, time, and stress when shopping for your first baby with this practical guide for getting the products you need.
